

Cordell Christian Home's Resident's Digest

Thankfully the ads for all of the politician “wanna-be’s” are over now. Time will tell whether the right decisions were made or not. As always, we appreciated the Election Board workers who came here so that our residents were able to cast their votes.

Our Chili Cook-Off was a delicious success last Friday. Each entry was unique and it was hard to decide who to vote for. But after all the votes were counted, Ginny Bryan won first place, Dawn Knight received second place and several other entries tied for third place. Some of the voters brought crackers, Fritos, cheese and extra add-ons to go with the chilies, making a very tasty lunch.

We’d all like to express our thanks to Mrs. Horn and the Cordell Elementary teachers who brought their youngest classes to sing for us once again. The students did such a great job and looked adorable in their animal costumes.

We had two regular Bingo games last week and of course the big Area Wide Bingo gathering here on Thursday, which went very well. During our in-house games, Nannie Hines was the first place winner, W.T. Bryan and Judith Winn tied for second and Norma Moler and Betty Arter tied for third. Judy, Jr. Murphy, Margaret Frank and Marsha Thompson were each a onetime blackout prize winner.

If you’d like to keep up with our entire activities calendar, visit our website at www.cordellchristianhome.org where the monthly calendar is always posted. These articles are available as well, going back through all of 2009. In addition to our weekly Beacon articles, we have an in-house journal published every Monday morning for our resident’s enjoyment. Those are available for reading on the website also.

Keeping up with our community, our world and each other is important. We’d like to keep up with you, too. Come on up and share your news with us! See you soon.
