

Cordell Christian Home's Resident's Digest

Another hot week! You'll probably all agree with me that air conditioning is one of the best inventions ever! Seems like we've had more triple-digit days this year than ever before.

For the 26 Bingo players last week things were pretty hot too, with cool prizes. First, second and third place winners this week were Judith Winn, Jesse Locke and W.T. Bryan, each just one bingo apart. They were also blackout winners along with Jr. Murphy, who won three prizes – and two were in one day!

Our guests last Thursday fixed a variety of snow cone flavors for us. These were very popular with both residents and employees. Even though we were all indoors, just knowing that it's over 100 degrees outside makes a snow cone taste even better. They also brought some fun carnival type games for us to try our hand at.

Margie's bunch continued their chat about ladies lingerie from way back when, and also included other familiar ladies' accessories such as handkerchiefs and hosiery. Things have definitely improved over the years!

With school starting this week, we wish all the teachers and students a good year and we look forward to all the programs we will be enjoying here provided by different school groups throughout the year.

Be sure to check on your neighbors on these hot days, especially if they are elderly or they live alone. We wish you all good health and a cool place to stay out of the heat. See you soon.
