

Cordell Christian Home's Resident's Digest

Hello to you all from all of us at the “Christian Home”! This is the last full week of summer break for the school children – and the teachers are already getting things ready for their return to the classrooms. Whoever first said “Where does the time go?” probably had no idea how profound a question that was.

Last week’s activities at CCH were varied and included the Birthday Party for all those born in July. Root Beer and Coke floats were the very popular refreshments celebrating six residents and seven employees.

Also included on the schedule were exercise classes that Iris leads a couple of mornings a week to get everyone loosened up, and Saturday morning Trivia, this time jogging everyone’s memory and knowledge of American geography.

On Friday, the group gathered to visit together with Margie began with a funny story read about a mouse in church and somehow moved on to talking about women’s lingerie from the past – corsets, girdles and garter belts. That group always livens up pretty quickly and brings lots of laughs for everyone; this topic was certainly no exception.

Judith Winn shared the “most bingos” claim with Margaret Frank last week, and Viola Rich almost made it a trio. They were also all three blackout prize winners along with W.T. Bryan, Florence Smith, Wanda Harbuck and Jr. Murphy. The Bingo group totaled 24 again this week.

This coming Thursday we look forward to having a guest who is bringing a snow cone machine and leading us in some games.

Be sure to check on your neighbors on these hot days, especially if they are elderly or they live alone. We wish you all good health and a cool place to stay out of the heat. See you soon.
