

Cordell Christian Home's Resident's Digest

By Nicole Allen

This Friday, October 23rd, is the Cordell Christian Home's 7th Annual Chili Cook-Off! CCH residents and staff are preparing their secret family recipes and getting everything ready for the competition at the end of the week. Every year we have new, different, and exciting pots of chili and we are always eager to see what our competitors are going to come up with next!

Competitors will be setting up their pots from 10-11am to be ready for judging at 11:30 Friday morning. Those who do not enter chili into the competition are still welcome to be testers; however, there is a little catch. You must bring a side to go with the chili such as crackers, chips, or cheese. However, that few dollars spent on a side dish seems meaningless after you taste one of our competitor's bowls of chili! Yummy!

So many people want to win first prize for their chili this year but it isn't the prizes that excite them. It seems that everyone just wants the chili bragging rights for the next year! It becomes a bigger honor each year to have the winning bowl of chili at CCH's Chili Cook-Off. Within our staff and residents are some great cooks and this makes the competition fierce! Friday is going to be a great day for a chili throw down and our taste testers can't wait to judge the entries!
